1. Introduction

Callywith College has a commitment to meet the general and specific duties contained in The Equality Act 2010. The college recognises the educational and business benefits of having a diverse community of staff and learners who value one another and contribute to the achievement of the College's mission:

'to provide the best possible learning experience leading to the highest possible level of achievement by our students'.

As a college we aim to create a culture of inclusiveness and to challenge discrimination in order to remove barriers to the educational and personal progression of individual learners. To achieve this aim, the college will not tolerate unfair or unlawful discrimination.

This policy covers statutory duties which include race, disability, age and gender, and also encompasses the broader single equality duty covering the following Protected Characteristics:

- Age
- Disability
- Gender reassignment
- Marriage and civil partnerships
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Race
- Religion or belief
- Sex
- Sexual orientation.

Note: The Socio-economic background of an individual is not one of the Protected Characteristics under the Equality Act 2010. From an educational stance however, the social and educational background is relevant when guiding and supporting learners through their education. When students are from an area of high deprivation, they may have poor prior educational attainment and low expectations which may impact negatively on the success of the individual if they are not identified and supported appropriately.

This Policy sets out the College's equality principles, aims and objectives and associated action plan for implementation for the period 2017-20. The scheme describes how the college will:

- Promote equality of opportunity and avoid discrimination
- Place the advancement of inclusion, equality and diversity at the centre of its work
- Ensure that Callywith College operates best practice as an employer in pursuit of equality

3. The Legislative Context

The Equality Act 2010 replaces all existing anti-discrimination laws and includes a new public sector Equality Duty. The main aims of the 2010 Act are to provide protection of the Protected Characteristics from the following prohibited conduct:

- Direct discrimination;
- Indirect discrimination;
- Victimisation; and
- Harassment

The Equality Duty consists of a general duty, which is set out in the Act itself and new specific duties.

The general duty of Callywith College

Section 149 of the Act imposes a general duty on Callywith College, when exercising their functions, to have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation;
- Advance equality of opportunity between different groups; and
- Foster good relations between different groups

The legislation makes it clear that complying with the duty might mean treating some people more favourably than others, where doing so is permitted by the Act, such as taking positive action to promote equality, or making reasonable adjustments for disabled people.

a. The Specific Duties of Callywith College

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011 creates two specific duties designed to help the public bodies meet the general duty.

i. Publication of equality data

Callywith College (if it becomes an employer with 150 or more employees) is required to publish information demonstrating its compliance with the general equality duty. This must include information relating to the protected characteristics of its staff and people affected by its policies and practices annually in line with the EHRC Code of Practice and guidance.

ii. Setting equality objectives

Callywith College must set objectives to achieve in relation to equality and publish these. The objectives should relate to how the public body intends to further the aims of the Equality Duty. The objectives must be specific and measurable, including how progress will be measured. At least one objective must be set although public bodies may choose to set more than this. New objectives must be set at least every four years.

iii. Publication

Callywith College must publish the information that is required to be published in a manner which is reasonably accessible to the public (this can be part of another document).

4. Involving people in the development and review of the scheme

The college will actively seek to involve stakeholders in the development, implementation and assessment of this policy by:

- Involving staff in meeting individual needs
- Involving staff in reviewing organisational data
- Involving staff in setting priorities for further data gathering and action planning
- Involving staff and students in assessing the impact of policy and procedures
- Involving students through course reviews
- Involving students through learner voice meetings
- Involving Governors in monitoring relevant college complaints
- Involving senior managers in setting strategic objectives to meet the Equality duty
- Involving Governors through the annual Equal Opportunities Monitoring Report

Much of the above work will be undertaken and monitored by the College Equality and Diversity group.

The college will also use information on good practice from organisations such as the Equality and Human Rights Commission and relevant government reports.
